

AKD Student Scholarships Announcement

International Lawyering in a Public Interest

5 partial scholarships offered by AKD available!

Eligible candidates:

The partial scholarships are available to students and PhD candidates. Eligible students and PhDs are those focusing on international law and advocacy, or interested to practice public interest advocacy with international law. Students of related fields will also be considered.

Nationals from non-OECD countries and applicants demonstrating financial need are particularly encouraged to apply for this scholarship.

The partial scholarship covers:

- €750,- tuition fee;
- Lunch, 5 days;
- Course materials;
- Opening dinner;

Candidates are responsible to cover their own costs for travel, accommodation and other related expenses.

Application documents to be submitted:

The scholarships will be awarded based on merit. When applying for the summer programme, applicants must submit:

- A completed online partial scholarship application form.
- A Curriculum Vitae;
- A letter of motivation (up to 400 words), including argument for scholarship eligibility;
- Two names of references that can be contacted.

Please click here to submit all of your documents and fill out the application form.

Application deadline:

The deadline for scholarship applications is 28 April. Selection process will be completed within two weeks after the deadline; and successful candidates will be notified by 12 May at the latest.

Selection method:

A panel of professionals from ACIL and the Asser Institute will review scholarship applications.

Contact and more information:

Should you not receive an automatic confirmation your application was successfully processed within 2 work days, or should you have any further questions regarding scholarships, please contact educationtraining@asser.nl. More information can also be found on www.asser.nl/summerprogrammes