About: On 9 July 2025, the Grand Chamber of the European Court of Human Rights (ECtHR) delivered its landmark judgment in the inter-State case Ukraine and the Netherlands v. Russia. The judgment addresses Russia's responsibility for serious and systemic human rights violations in the context of the international armed conflict against Ukraine, including in territories under effective Russian control, as well as issues related to the downing of flight MH17.

For this event, we will focus on the parts of the judgment relating to Ukraine and the situation in occupied territories. One year on, the key questions are: what does the judgment really change in law and practice, and how can its findings be used in concrete cases (domestically and in the international fora)?

In a moderated conversation, Ukrainian and international experts will discuss how the judgment can support accountability and victim-centred justice for crimes committed in occupied parts of Ukraine since 2014, with particular attention to administrative patterns of violations.
