

The Reach of Free Movement

Mads Andenas · Tarjei Bekkedal
Luca Pantaleo
Editors

The Reach of Free Movement

 ASSER PRESS

 Springer

Editors

Mads Andenas
Faculty of Law
University of Oslo
Oslo
Norway

Tarjei Bekkedal
Faculty of Law
University of Oslo
Oslo
Norway

Luca Pantaleo
Faculty of Public Management, Law and Safety
The Hague University of Applied Sciences
The Hague
The Netherlands

ISBN 978-94-6265-194-4

ISBN 978-94-6265-195-1 (eBook)

DOI 10.1007/978-94-6265-195-1

Published by T.M.C. ASSER PRESS, The Hague, The Netherlands www.asserpress.nl
Produced and distributed for T.M.C. ASSER PRESS by Springer-Verlag Berlin Heidelberg

Library of Congress Control Number: 2017943109

© T.M.C. ASSER PRESS and the authors 2017

No part of this work may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, microfilming, recording or otherwise, without written permission from the Publisher, with the exception of any material supplied specifically for the purpose of being entered and executed on a computer system, for exclusive use by the purchaser of the work.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

Printed on acid-free paper

This T.M.C. Asser Press imprint is published by Springer Nature
The registered company is Springer-Verlag GmbH Germany
The registered company address is: Heidelberger Platz 3, 14197 Berlin, Germany

Contents

1	The Reach of Free Movement and the Gradualist Approach of the CJEU: An Introduction	1
	Mads Andenas
Part I The Reach of Free Movement
2	The Reach of Free Movement. A Defence of Court Discretion	17
	Tarjei Bekkedal
3	Free Movement of Persons Through the Lenses of ‘Discrimination’ and ‘Restriction’	57
	Alina Tryfonidou
4	Restrictions on the Use of Goods and Services	85
	Stefan Enchelmaier
5	To Use or Not to Use—That’s the Question. On Article 34 and National Rules Restricting the Use of Lawfully Marketed Products	109
	Niels Fenger
Part II Justifications and Proportionality
6	Justifications for Restrictions to Free Movement: Towards a Single Normative Framework?	131
	Vassilis Hatzopoulos
7	The Justification and Proportionality of Certain Administrative, Regulatory and Political Concerns	157
	Pål Wennerås

8	The Guardianship of European Constitutionality: A Structural Critique of European Constitutional Review	173
	Agustín José Menéndez
9	The Criterion of “Consistent and Systematic Manner” in Free Movement Law	205
	Tor-Inge Harbo
Part III Fundamental Rights
10	Legitimacy and the Charter of Fundamental Rights Post-Lisbon	229
	Christoffer C. Eriksen and Jørgen A. Stubberud
11	False Friends and True Cognates: On Fundamental Freedoms, Fundamental Rights and Union Citizenship	253
	Francesco De Cecco
12	Fundamental Freedoms, Fundamental Rights, and the Many Faces of Freedom of Contract in the EU	273
	Olha O. Cherednychenko
13	The Charter of Fundamental Rights and the Reach of Free Movement Law	293
	Filippo Fontanelli and Amedeo Arena
Part IV Looking Abroad
14	Creating a National Market in the United States Through the Dormant Commerce Clause?	315
	Eszter Belteki
15	Beyond Parallel Powers. EU Treaty-Making Power Post-Lisbon	367
	Mads Andenas and Luca Pantaleo
	Table of Cases	399

List of Contributors

Mads Andenas is Professor at the Department of Private Law, University of Oslo. He has held senior academic appointments in the United Kingdom, including Director of the British Institute of International and Comparative Law, London and Director of the Centre of European Law at King's College, University of London. He remains a Visiting Research Fellow of the Institute of European and Comparative Law, University of Oxford and a Senior Research Fellow at the Institute of Advanced Legal Studies, School of Advanced Studies, University of London. He holds the degrees of Cand jur (Oslo), Ph.D. (Cambridge) and MA and DPhil (Oxford).

Dr. Amedeo Arena is Associate Professor of European Union Law at the University of Naples "Federico II" School of Law, where he teaches EU Internal Market law. He co-authored a textbook on EU free movement law (Giappichelli, Turin, 2016) and published several articles on that subject in edited books and peer-review journals, including the Common Market Law Review, the Yearbook of European Law, and the Columbia Journal of European Law.

Tarjei Bekkedal is Professor at the Centre for European Law, University of Oslo and is also the head of the Norwegian Association for European Law. His main interests are European Law, Constitutional Law and Human Rights Law.

Eszter Belteki is currently a Ph.D. candidate in EU and Comparative Constitutional Law at Durham University. After finishing her LL.B. studies in Business Law with First Class Honours from London Metropolitan University, Eszter graduated from Durham University with a Distinction in LL.M. European Trade and Commercial Law. She was also a Michigan Grotius Research Scholar at the University of Michigan Law School and the PGR Co-Convenor and subsequently the PGR Convenor of the Durham European Law Institute.

Francesco De Cecco is Lecturer in Law at Newcastle Law School, Newcastle University (United Kingdom). He is the author of several articles, book chapters and a monograph entitled State Aid and the European Economic Constitution (Hart Publishing, 2013). Together with François-Charles Lapr votte and Joanna Gray, he has recently edited the Research Handbook on State Aid in the Banking Sector (Edward Elgar, 2017).

Prof. Dr. Olha O. Cherednychenko holds the Chair in European Private Law and Comparative Law at the University of Groningen. She is also the Founder and Director of the Groningen Centre for European Financial Services Law. She has written extensively on issues relating to the impact of EU primary law and fundamental rights law on private law relationships and the interplay between public regulation of EU origin and national private law systems, in particular in the area of financial services. She has also conducted studies in the area of EU law / financial services law for national and European institutions, in particular the European Parliament.

Stefan Enchelmaier studied law, philosophy and Latin at the Universities of Cologne, Hamburg, and Edinburgh; obtained his doctorate from the University of Bonn with a thesis on European competition law, and his habilitation from the University of Munich with a thesis on comparative Anglo-German property law; following a stint in practice and academic posts in Oxford, Munich, and York, he is now Professor of European and comparative law at the University of Oxford, and a fellow of Lincoln College, Oxford.

Christoffer C. Eriksen is Professor at the Department of Public and International Law, University of Oslo. He is the author of several publications studying the relation between legal orders within and beyond state borders, including The European Constitution, Welfare States and Democracy: The Four Freedoms vs National Administrative Discretion. His current research explores the possibilities of critique of international law and global governance.

Niels Fenger is Judge in the Eastern Court of Appeal and Professor in Administrative Law at Copenhagen University, Dr.jr. (habilitation) 2004 on the relationship between EU law and national administrative law. Fenger is former head of the Legal Service at the EFTA Surveillance Authority and former legal secretary at the Court of Justice. Previously he has also held posts in the Danish Ministry of Justice and the Ministry of the Interior. Fenger is the author of 11 books and more than 90 articles on EU law, administrative law and procedural law.

Dr. Filippo Fontanelli is Lecturer of International Economic Law at the University of Edinburgh. He read Law at the University of Pisa, at the Sant'Anna

School and at NYU. He worked at Cleary, Gottlieb, Steen and Hamilton LLP and at the International Court of Justice. Dr Fontanelli is a fellow of the Higher Education Academy, a member of the Centre for Judicial Cooperation of the European University Institute, a member of the Faculty of the Master in International Law of the Universidad La Sabana (Bogota) and Visiting Lecturer at the University of Stockholm. He is co-rapporteur of the ILA Committee on the Procedure of International Courts and Tribunals.

Tor-Inge Harbo is Professor of Law at the School of Business and Law at the University of Agder, Norway. He has a Ph.D. in Political Science from the Free University in Berlin and a Ph.D. in Law from the European University Institute in Florence. He teaches in and writes on the fields of European law, European integration, international law, constitutional law, human rights law, and legal and political theory. He has held leading positions in the Norwegian public administration.

Vassilis Hatzopoulos is Professor of EU Law and Policies at the Democritus University of Thrace (Greece). He is visiting Professor at the College of Europe, Bruges (Belgium) and honorary Asst. Professor at the University of Nottingham (United Kingdom). His interests cover EU institutional law and governance, the EU internal market with special focus on service liberalisation and the provision of services of general economic interest, state aid and public procurement, as well as EU asylum and immigration law. He has published three monographs, on the principle of mutual recognition in the internal market (in French, Bruylant/Sakkoulas, 1999), on the doctrine of essential facilities under EU competition law (in Greek, Sakkoulas, 2002) and on the regulation of services in the EU (in English, OUP, 2012). He has also published over a hundred articles and case notes, in English, French and Greek, in all the major EU-related reviews and periodicals and in edited volumes. He has a longstanding experience as a lawyer, practicing before the highest national courts and the Court of Justice of the EU. He has consulted i.a. the Greek Government (on the OECD-led regulatory reform), the EU Commission (on the Services Directive) and the European Parliament (on EU patients' rights). Lately his research interests turn around the sharing economy and the EU preferential trade agreements (TTIP, CETA etc.).

Agustín José Menéndez is Lecturer of Political and Legal Philosophy, Universidad de León, Spain and research fellow at ARENA, Universitetet i Oslo. He is currently editor in chief of the European Law Journal. He is the author of Justifying Taxes, and The Constitution's Gift (together with John Erik Fossum).

Dr. Luca Pantaleo obtained a Ph.D. in International and EU Law in 2013 at the University of Macerata (Italy). His Ph.D. thesis focused on EU Member States International Agreements and EU Law. In the course of his academic career, Pantaleo has been appointed visiting researcher in several institutions, such as the Pontifical Catholic University of San Paulo/PUC SP (Brazil), the Max Planck Institute for Comparative Public Law and International Law, and the Department of Private Law of the University of Oslo under the ‘Yggdrasil’ Programme. Before joining the Hague University of Applied Sciences in August 2016, he worked at the University of Luxembourg as Senior Researcher (Postdoc) and at the Asser Institute, where he served as both Senior Researcher in EU Law and Academic Coordinator of CLEER.

Jørgen A. Stubberud is advocate, cand.jur and cand.mag. He is currently a practicing lawyer and a Ph.D. student at the Faculty of Law of the University of Oslo. He is also the President of the Norwegian section of the IVR, the Norwegian Association for Legal Philosophy.

Dr. Alina Tryfonidou is Associate Professor in EU Law at the School of Law, University of Reading (United Kingdom). Before joining the University of Reading in 2011, she was a Lecturer in Law at the University of Leicester (2007-2011) and a Visiting Tutor (2005-2007) and Visiting Lecturer (2010-2011) at King’s College London. Dr Tryfonidou obtained her LL.B. (2001), LL.M. (2002) and Ph.D. (2008) from King’s College London and is an Associate of King’s College (AKC) (2008). She is a non-practising member of the Cyprus Bar since 2003, a Fellow of the Centre of European Law at King’s College London since 2007, and a Fellow of the Higher Education Academy since 2016.

Dr. Pål Wennerås is advocate, Office of the Attorney General, Norway. He holds the degrees of Cand.jur (Oslo), LL.M. (University of Amsterdam) and Ph.D. (University of Amsterdam). He has written extensively on issues relating to the enforcement of EU law, including the monograph The Enforcement of EC Environmental Law (Oxford 2007). Dr. Wennerås was awarded the IUS Commune Prize (2006).