

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface by Thomas Skouteris	V
List of Abbreviations	XIII
Chapter 1
Introduction – The Notion of Progress in International Law Discourse	1
1.1 Progress and International Law Debates	1
1.2 The Problem: Progress as a Notion that ‘Speaks Itself’	15
1.3 Critique and Theses: Progress as the Product of Narratives	22
1.4 Approach, Method, Outline	30
1.4.1 Approach	30
1.4.2 Method	31
1.4.3 Outline	35
Chapter 2
International Law as Progress – Stelios Seferiades and Interwar International Law	39
2.1 Introduction	39
2.2 The Narrative of Absolutism v. Democracy	45
2.3 The Function of the Vocabulary of Progress	58
2.4 A Vocabulary Situated	64
2.5 Bourgeois Modernization and International Law	73
2.6 How to Explain Away Sovereign (In)Equality	77
2.7 The International Lawyer as Organic Intellectual	86
2.8 Conclusions	91
Chapter 3
Progress within International Law – The Doctrine of the Sources as Progress	93
3.1 Introduction	93
3.2 Interwar Discourse on the Sources of International Law and the Quest for Reconstruction	98

3.3	Tropes of Reconstruction	103
3.4	Article 38 as Progress	121
3.5	The Vocabulary of Progress of the Sources	126
3.6	Digression: Sources in Contemporary Textbooks	138
3.7	An (Un)Stable Vocabulary	150
3.8	Conclusion	155
Chapter 4
International Law as Progress/Progress within International Law – The New Tribunalism 159
4.1	Introduction	159
4.2	The New Tribunalism	164
4.2.1	Tribunals and pre-1980s international law	164
4.2.2	Facts and trends of proliferation	170
4.2.3	The new form of engagement	173
4.3	Two Vocabularies of Progress	180
4.3.1	The ‘lawyer-as-architect’	180
4.3.2	The ‘lawyer-as-social-engineer’	197
4.4	(Un)Stable Vocabularies	206
4.4.1	Necessity	206
4.4.2	Unity	209
4.4.3	Progress	211
4.5	Conclusion	215
Chapter 5
In Closing
217
5.1	Findings	217
5.2	Progress as the Product of Narratives	219
5.3	Progress Narratives as Politics	222
5.4	Discourse Analysis as Action	227
Bibliography		231
Index		259